HONG KONG UPI — Chinese Communist Radio broadcasts Friday said Red Guards are rampaging in the streets in many parts of the country. Witnesses from the Red nation told UPI of bodies hanging from lampposts and fear spreading across the nation.

The reports of fresh violence came as Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's Red Guards staged rallies throughout the country on the first anniversary of their formal debut.

From the Yunnan Province capital of Kunming a radio broadcast said Red Guards there "went to the streets to severely punish hoodlums, robbers and speculators" and other "bad fellows" not in line with Mao's "cultural revolution" purge policies.

Reports from Chekiang Province, 1,500 miles away on the east coast, said Red Guards, workers and army troops are still engaged in a "fierce struggle" that began Aug. 3.

A middle-aged traveler from Canton, who gave his name as Lee Fie Lam, told UPI shortly after crossing into Hong Kong of seeing corpses in the streets and hanging from trees and lampposts.

Asked to describe the bodies, he said, "all of them looked very untidy. They were clothed in gray or dark blue shirts and trousers. Some were without shoes.

Some had suffered wounds in the chest and neck that I could see.

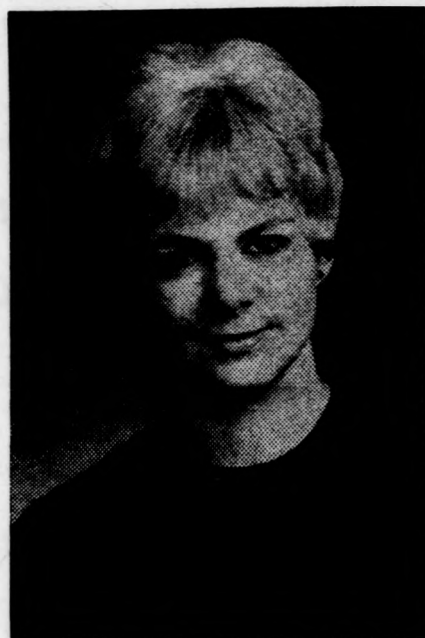

"From Aug. 11 until this morning I was in Canton. On the 14th and 15th there was a lot of fighting and disorder in the streets. All the shops were closed. People dared not go out after 7 p.m., Lee said.

The best available intelligence sources in the Hong Kong area told UPI they are convinced the reports of mass street violence from travelers are generally correct.

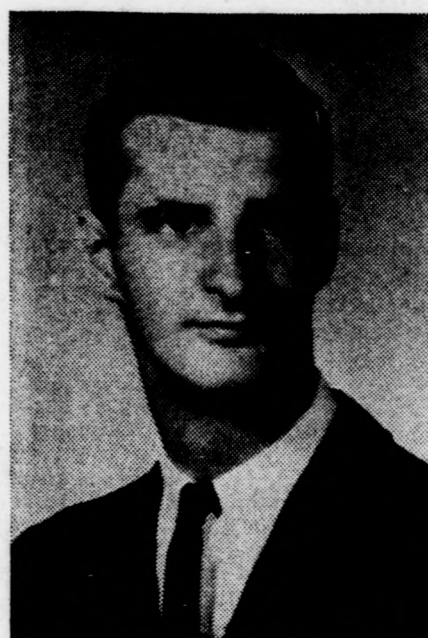

A well placed and reliable source said, "as sensational as they may seem, the stories about the bodies hanging from trees are true. They have been checked out. We don't know how many. But we have confirmed conclusively that there were some strung up to trees and light posts, some feet first."

Communist Radio broadcasts and semiofficial reports told of continuing trouble in such widely scattered areas as Kirin Province in the extreme northeast, Kansu in the northwest, Honan in central China and Kwangtung in the south.

Travelers from Kwangtung, which borders on this British crown colony, repeated reports told by others during the past few weeks. They said Canton, the capital and other parts of the province are rife with trouble and fear.

GHS GRADUATES RECEIVE HONORS — Miss Janice Barrett (left) and Gerald York (right), both graduates of Greencastle High School, have been awarded honors. Miss Barrett, the daughter of former residents of this city, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barrett, has received a $600 tuition grant from Purdue University where she will be a sophomore next spring. Gerald, the son of Mrs. Mildred York of 410 East Hanna Street, has received a scholarship to study in France during the coming academic year. He will study French History, French Literature, French Drama, and the French language itself at the University of Aix-Marseille. While in France he will be living with a French family in Aix-en-Provence, 20 miles outside of Marseille on the French Riviera.

Students get Mental Health job experience

An experimental program that may serve as a national model will wind up its business next week at DePauw University.

The project of training a dozen DePauw undergraduates to apply classroom knowledge to social work in the field concludes Aug. 25 after eight weeks operation under a National Institute of Mental Health grant.

The program is in its first year. It is under the direction of DePauw's psychology department which late this spring was awarded a $15,355 grant by NIMH.

The dozen students involved have spent 5-6 hours each day assisting teachers in four Headstart centers in Putnam County, three of them in Greencastle and one in Roachdale. Later, the day is capped with a two-hour lecture-seminar session in the classroom at DePauw.

According to Dr. Rex Rector, director of the program and a professor of psychology at DePauw, the aim of the program is "to provide undergraduates an opportunity to see how knowledge and skills learned in the classroom can be most effectively applied to increase the achievements and opportunities of Headstart youngsters."

Rector said the NIMH for sometime has supported programs to accomplish the same objectives with graduate students. This is the first year, he said, the Institute has investigated in undergraduate training.

Over 50 DePauw students applied for admission to the program which stands to be renewed for two more years. The students, who are psych, sociology and education majors, receive a $75 per week stipend.

Sharing instructional duties with Rector is Dr. Mike Silver, assistant professor of psychology. Dr. Ken Wagoner, head of the department, also is assisting.

Students enrolled in the program are George Kelly and Nancy Holsapple, both of Indianapolis; James Maish, Frankfort; Ann Schoelch Drake, Shelbyville; Robert Drake, St. Louis, Mo.; Betsy Colby, Brockton, Mass.; Margaret Gard, Dayton, O.; Anita Lutkus, Cary, Ill.; Margaret Metcalf, Chesterfield, Mo.; Robert Miller, Effingham, Ill.; Catherine Robinson, Cleveland Heights, O.; Janie Whitaker, Louisville, Ky.

Gerald Ruark is materials specialist

Gerald Ruark, son of Mrs. Ola Ruark of Greencastle, has been employed by the Metropolitan School District of Perry Township, Marion County, during the past year as their Elementary Instructional Materials Specialist.

Mr. Ruark has taught and coached in Perry Township at the elementary level for the past ten years. He received his bachelor's degree from Indiana Central College in 1956.

Concentrating in elementary instruction, supervision and administration, Gerald received a master's degree from Butler University, Indianapolis, in 1962. After attending Educational Media Institutes at Purdue University and Indiana University during 1965 and 1966, he has started his work as a Materials Specialist.

His work consists mainly of conducting teacher in-service education classes, maintaining a film library, and serving as an audio-visual consultant for Perry Township's sixteen elementary schools.

Gerald, and his wife Ann, have lived near Indianapolis since 1956.

Top secret document of Viet Cong made public

SAIGON UPI — The Viet Cong, according to a captured top secret document made public Friday will not negotiate in Vietnam until their "objectives of independence, peace, democracy and neutrality" are realized.

The paper, captured April 21 on South Vietnam's central coast, is entitled "Resolution of the Central Office of South Vietnam (COSVN). COSVN is the highest Communist echelon in South Vietnam.

The 60-page document released by U.S. authorities covers all aspects of the Communist campaign goals, strategy, methods and organization. Most significant, were two paragraphs dealing with negotiations:

"We are determined not to entertain illusions concerning a negotiated settlement to the problem of Vietnam, and we must concentrate all our strength to destroy the enemy.

"Only when the American imperialists and aggressive will is crushed and the objectives of independence, peace, democracy and neutrality of the south are guaranteed can we negotiate settlement of the Vietnam problem."

The document dated back to March 1966. But a spokesman added that "the goals, methods, tactics and attitudes enunciated in the COSVN resolution are still valid and are those being used currently by the Vietnamese Communists."

"This is probably the most important Communist document ever to come into our hands," a spokesman said.

Soviet Union orders two American Jews expelled

MOSCOW UPI — At least two American Jews, including a rabbi, have been ordered to leave the Soviet Union since the Mideast war in June for making "anti-Soviet statements," it was reported today.

Both men were believed to be tourists. They were detained, then expelled from the Ukraine, where many Soviet Jews live, informed sources said.

The rabbi was Solomon Freilich of Mount Vernon, N.Y., who was restricted to Kiev for two days Aug. 10-12 for investigation, then told to leave the country Aug. 12. He left for Vienna Aug. 13.

The name of the first man, who was expelled nearly one month ago, was not available.

Both men were allowed to telephone the U.S. Embassy here before the expulsions—a departure from the usual Soviet practice.

The incidents were seen not as an example of an increase in Soviet anti-Semitism as an outgrowth of the Mideast war, but rather as signs of Soviet sensitivity to contacts between Soviets and foreign Jews.

American diplomats were known to be upset at accusations in the United States that a major domestic anti-Semitic campaign had been unleashed in the Soviet Union tandem with the Kremlin's foreign policy offensive against Israel.

Funds for an unmanned spaceship are eliminated

WASHINGTON UPI — The House Appropriations Committee Friday eliminated all funds requested by the space agency for sending an unmanned Voyager spacecraft to land on Mars in 1973 and search for life.

The budget-conscious panel cut the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's $5.1 billion request for the year that began July 1 by a total of $516 million, more than double the reduction ordered by the House in passing authorizing legislation.

Acknowledging that it was recommending funding NASA at "the lowest level in years," the committee nevertheless predicted the agency could still conduct "a viable space program."

Where the House had ordered a partial reduction, the committee denied any of the $71.5 million sought by NASA for Voyager, which under the most optimistic plans was to have landed softly on Mars, using digging equipment to explore the surface and a chemical laboratory to test it for signs of life.

In general, the effect of the committee's action was to reduce or deny new starts in space, while funding at levels only slightly below NASA's request the currently on-going programs topped by the $2.5 billion Apollo project to put man on the moon by 1970.

Hordes of field mice destroy Yugoslavia crops

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia UPI — Millions of field mice, moving in hungry phalanxes across the fields of Bosnia, were estimated today to have devastated nearly a quarter million dollars worth of crops.

Vucinic admitted government officials were still stymied in their search for a means to check the phenomenal invasion, largely because they feared poisoning would endanger domestic animals and other wild life.

The mice Thursday were six miles from the center of Sarajevo, a city of 200,000 population, but Vucinic doubted they would enter the city.

"Field mice stay away from populated areas," he said. "But if they do come in, we will be ready. Poisoning doesn't represent the same problem in a city that it does in the countryside."

He said the mice, most six inches long, started appearing in large numbers nine days ago. They were first sighted coming down the slopes of the 6,480-foot-high Mt. Treskavice, on the outskirts of the town of Kalinovik, 25 miles south of Sarajevo, in the most mountainous region of Bosnia.

They swarmed into the planted fields around several villages at the foot of the mountains.

Peasants rushed into the fields to try to harvest as much as they could before the mice beat them to it. But Vucinic said in most cases the mice got more than the peasants did.

From spot counts of the mice in selected areas, government inspectors estimated that roughly four million mice were on the rampage.

The Sarajevo Biological Institute said several factors apparently contributed to the population explosion among the field mice, which reproduce at the rate of 300 young per female mouse each year.

A major factor, the institute said in a statement, is that hunters and farmers have largely killed off foxes and other natural enemies of the field mice in recent years.

Experts will re-appraise real estate in county

The Putnam County Trustees have voted 11-2 to employ professional appraisers for the 1968 re-appraisal of real estate in this county.

Hendricks, Montgomery and Clay Counties are employing the same method. In fact, about 80 per cent of the Indiana counties will use professionals next year.

Albert Solomon, Putnam County Assessor, says the cost by private firms in many counties in 1962 was less than when local people were employed.

He estimated that it will cost approximately $82,000 to assess the 9,400 parcels of real estate in the county, 7,600 of which have improvements.

Solomon says that with several townships in one school district as exists under reorganization, it is most important to get a more equalized assessment, county-wide.

A study of all real estate sales over the past two years shows, in Putnam County, the assessed valuation has dropped to 22.1 per cent. In other words, if it were 33 and one-third per cent as the law says, the state aid to schools would be much more and the local rate lower.

It was also pointed out that the County Assessor will appoint a five-man committee to set the rates on farm land. This committee will be local real estate holders familiar with land values and sales.

Solomon said the committee members will serve without pay.

New rule imposed by Civil Aeronautics Board

WASHINGTON UPI—A new rule was imposed Friday on the nation's airlines, requiring payment of at least $25 to ticket-holding passengers left stranded by overbooking of flights.

The Civil Aeronautics Board adopted as final—and toughened—a tentative rule announced last January to compensate passengers who have confirmed reservations on a plane but find all the seats have been taken.

The regulation is effective Oct. 1.

The board increased the penalty rate from a minimum of $5 to $40 maximum in the tentative rule to a permanent range of at least $25 to a maximum of $200. It also extended the rule to bookings of overseas as well as domestic flights.

The penalty will be determined on the basis of full payment for "the first remaining flight coupon" held by a passenger. For example, a passenger traveling from Washington to Los Angeles by way of Chicago would get a penalty payment for the full price of the Washington-Chicago portion if there is no seat for him.

The $25 minimum means that a passenger in cases of short flights actually can come out ahead financially.

The board stipulated, however, that a passenger cannot claim the penalty payment if the airlines can get him to his destination within two hours (four hours for overseas flight) of his originally scheduled arrival time.

Another exception is that the rule does not apply where the airline, because of safety factors or mechanical trouble, has to substitute a plane with smaller seating capacity for the scheduled craft.

Wool Fashion Show at Cloverdale well attended

More than 200 people attended the District 5 "Make It Yourself with Wool" Fashion Show held August 16, in the Cloverdale Community Building. The contest was sponsored jointly by the Womens Auxiliary of the National Wool Growers, and the Indiana Farm Bureau Women.

Due to various reasons 61 ladies out of the 70 entries modeled their garments. Competition was keen and interest ran high when the judges looked for the latest in color, design, coordination, and workmanship.

Mrs. Urdie Rohl of Martinsville, Morgan County, was first place winner in the adult division and is eligible to represent District 5 in the State Contest at the State Fairgrounds Sunday, September 3 at 2 p. m. But due to the date and time conflict of the Homemakers Style Show, also at the Fairgrounds, Mrs. Rohl is unable to model in both contests, as she is also the winner in the Young Homemakers Style Show in Morgan County.

Mrs. Rohl modeled a Barberry plaid coat and matching hat. Her accessories were a green neck scarf, black leather gloves and green shoes. Mrs. Grace Parker was alternate and will represent District 5 at the state contest. She wore a black 100% wool coat and chose a white scarf, white gloves, black shoes and a white mink and satin hat to complement her coat.

Miss Sue Wilson of Wingate, Montgomery County, was first place winner in the Senior Division, and will represent District 5 at the State Contest. With her yellow coat, she chose to wear a black felt brimmed hat with a gold band, black kid gloves and black shoes. Alternate in the Senior Division was Brenda Fuson Coatesville R. R., Hendricks County. She wore a blue dress and white coat with a magenta hat, beige gloves, navy blue patent shoes and a pin on her dress for accessories.

Miss Carol Evans of Bainbridge, Putnam County, was first place winner in the Junior Division and will represent District 5 in the State Contest. Carol wore a gold dress of 100 per cent wool, a brown suede Fedora hat, bone shorty gloves, and brown lizard pumps. Alternate was Debra Lynn Alcorn also of Bainbridge. She wore a gold plaid skirt and coordinating gold jacket, a straw color shell, golden brown key ring shoes, oyster gloves, and a rust hat to accent her suit.

Other winners in the show, Adult Division were Donna Kahle, Linden, Montgomery County; and Jeanne Ann Richards, Fillmore, Putnam County. Senior Division were Pamela Sue Cosby, Crawfordsville, Montgomery County; Jonetta Elaine Thomas, Bloomington, Parke County; and Betty Lou Guthrie, Lebanon, Boone County.

The Junior Division winners were Carolyn Torr, Greencastle, Putnam County; Deborah Faith Arthur, Martinsville, Morgan County; and Debra Smith, Bloomington, Parke County.

Mrs. Glendon Herbert of Cloverdale, District 5 Director, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Oren Wright, of Greenwood, State Director was present and commented briefly on the contest.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Louise Johnson, Parke County Home Demonstration Agent; Mrs. John Ledgerwood of Clay County, a Home Demonstration Major and a teacher in the Clay County Schools; and Mrs. Guy Gross of Chubbuck, The State Director of Women's Activities in Farm Bureau. The judges answered questions that the girls had about their garment which was very interesting and educational.

At the close of the meeting, the District 5 Farm Bureau Women Leaders served punch and cookies.

Three men jailed by officers Friday

Three men were arrested and lodged in the Putnam County jail Friday, Sheriff Bob Albright reported this morning. George Garrett, 23, was taken into custody at the Indiana State Farm and booked for fraud.

Rowland Scott, 23, Elkhart, was slated for forgery by Deputy Sheriff Bob Ziegelman.

Arthur McGuire, 47, was jailed by City Officer Bill Masten on a Circuit Court warrant charging failure to provide.

Farm escapees caught

Two Indiana State Farm inmates, who escaped from the Putnamville institution Thursday, were captured Friday at Clarksville, a short distance from Noblesville.

Apprehended were Charles Cook, 22, and Denver Lee Clifford, 22, both of Muncie.

Cook was serving a 5-year term for vehicle taking and Clifford was serving a similar sentence for theft, both from Delaware County.

His ship, operating as part of Commander, Nine Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet, is conducting minesweeping exercises off the coast of Southern California.

The ship, one of 56 vessels in the "Agile" minesweeper class is wooden-hulled and has engines made of non-metallic alloys so as not to active magnetic mines.

The 172-foot vessel is homeported in Long Beach.

A husband and wife who, for the sake of their children, never travel on the same plane, decided on a vacation in Portugal, and in accordance with their custom, booked passage via separate airlines. The husband chose the Portuguese airline, the wife the Italian line. What they didn't realize was that, as an economy measure, the Portuguese people, instead of operating trans-Atlantic jets of their own, buy space regularly in Italian jets. Result: when the husband and wife kissed each other goodbye, and went to board their respective planes—they discovered they were seatmates! Happy ending: their jet came down in a perfect landing in Lisbon—a half hour ahead of schedule!

A Department of Health official found himself assigned to sit next to a dear old lady of 78 at a New England fish dinner and asked her, "What do you think of Medicare in these parts?" "I've never tried it myself," admitted the old lady, "but one of my neighbors did—and she's lost 21 pounds!"

On The Farm Front

By Larry D. Hatfield

WASHINGTON UPI — The United States and Japan apparently have averted a major trade crisis that could have resulted in the elimination of American poultry exports to Japan.

High farm officials from both countries have quietly signed an agreement which exempts the United States from Japan's stringent new provisions governing poultry shipped into the country.

The new Japanese regulations require that poultry imports bear certification that the poultry is free of "Newcastle Disease," a virus-caused respiratory ailment, and that the birds have been raised in an area free of the disease. The disease is rarely found in the United States.

American poultry inspector contended that application of the requirement to American birds would virtually eliminate the U. S. market in Japan, which is the third largest importer of American poultry.

Trading in corn futures declined the first three months of this year after reaching a record high of 423.5 million bushels in November, 1966, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday in a report covering the period from September, 1966, through March, 1967.

The report came as the administration opened a drive for passage of legislation to give the government tighter policing powers in the futures markets.

The department said the number of open contracts in corn futures diminished as prices declined early this year after it became apparent that demand for corn would not live up to expectation.

When the market reached its maximum size last November, small traders and large speculators held most of the long-term open contracts and large hedgers held 58 percent of the short-term contracts, the survey said.

Bullish expectations in the corn market in early 1966 caused prices to rise and attracted large numbers of both speculators and hedgers to the futures market, officials said.

The resulting price uncertainty caused many owners of corn stocks to transfer risks to the futures market by hedging transactions, they said. The stage had been set for unusually large amounts of hedging because greater quantities of corn have been moving off the farm into private hands in recent years.

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

Recently I was talking with a friend of mine whose mother had asked her for years to put her name, address and who to notify in case of an accident, in the back of her car sun visor! My friend just couldn't understand it.

You know I think this is one of the greatest ideas that has come along since our effort to land a man on the moon. Here's why:

We all carry identification of various sorts, but let's be sure we carry the name, address and phone number of the person to notify in case of an accident. If we have an accident and are out "cold," the first thing any policeman or ambulance driver does is look for someone to notify. We don't always carry our billfold with us when we take the children to school, etc. Many of us move or change phone numbers and forget these little important cards.

Putting a current information card on top of the sun visor is an excellent idea.

I suggest that you not only type the name of your next of kin (remember, they just might be with you), but also one of your neighbors. They usually know who our parents are, the name of our nearest kin who live in the same city and even some of our out-of-town relatives.

So why not pick up a pen right now, write this information down on a little piece of paper and stick it in your purse. The next time you're in your car you can tape, clip or pin it on the sun visor. It takes little effort on your part and may save much confusion and heartache in an emergency.

Dear Heloise:

To save the ribbon bows from my showers and wedding gifts, I cut two pieces of nylon net in the shape of a heart. Sewed these together leaving a small opening in the top, then gathered a narrow ruffle around the edge. I put those pretty bows inside the heart, and stitched the opening together.

I have a beautiful throw pillow for my bed as well as saving those treasured bows.

Mrs. H. Arnold

Dear Heloise:

New mothers on a limited budget who need wash cloths for baby—cut one of your husband's old polo shirts into squares as large as desired. Then put a roll hem or a zig-zag stitch around the edges so they will hold their shape.

These are not only soft for a baby's tender skin, but are easier to handle than a terry wash cloth.

You can also use the entire front or back section of these shirts for little towels. They are an ideal size for small babies and later they are just right for use after shampooing those little heads.

Mrs. J. E. Crooks

Dear Heloise:

We made a slot in the garage door for the newsboy to shove our daily paper through when it rains as we do not have a covered porch.

Also when we are away we don't have to bother our neighbors to pick up the papers for us. We always like to have all the papers delivered and enjoy reading the back issues.

Ten returning lettermen add punch to Tiger Cubs new season

By Frank Puckett, Jr.
Banner Sports Editor

Ten returning senior lettermen compliment Bob Bergman and his hard hitting, rigidly disciplined squad of Tiger Cub football players who have been hitting the sod in morning and evening practice session since the Indiana High School Athletic Association gave the word go Tuesday.

The coming season will bring some tough opponents to Greencastle and the coach is counting on the speed of his seasoned lettermen to carry a lot of weight. Pete Norris, a slim 6-1 senior, will return as quarterback. He missed the first practice sessions because of a church camp function, but will return Monday.

Jay Frye, a husky 5-7½ speedster, is another returning letterman who shows a great deal of promise on the drill field at the halfback and quarterback spots. Along with Frye, seniors Kevin See, 5-10 and 150 pounds, and Dee Monnett, 5-7, 170 pounds, are fighting for starting positions at the halfback post.

John Edmonds, a beefy 6-0 letterman who is the only Tiger Cub to succumb to injury thus far with a twisted knee, and Kirk Hammond are trying for tackle positions. Guards Charlie Farber and Harold Henry are stand-bys from last year's team with eyes on a starting place as well as end Chuck Evens and fullback John New.

Practice sessions have been pleasing thus far to Bergman and his team of five assisting coaches, some who guide the junior high football squad too, and comment has it the boys are high in spirit and showing a lot of hustle.

Bergman has one thing going that keeps the boys on their toes all the time and that's the "Mr. Tough Guy" award. The award is made every three or four days, depending on what the coaches think. To earn the award, a sweatshirt worn in practice with "Mr. Tough Guy" on the front and back, a boy must hit the hardest, get the dirtiest, complain and moan the least, hustle the most, and impress the coaches with his desire to make good. The shirt hangs on the back of 5-6 Charlie Farber at present.

Every man on Bergman's team will have a haircut that will leave a clear cut view of the ears and reach not more than a quarter of the way down the forehead before he steps onto the practice field next Monday. The coach also has his players answer to drill orders with a loud and clear "yes sir," and "no sir."

Nine days remain until the boys get the real thing against Dugger, a southern Indiana team that posted a respectable 7-3 season record last year. Until then its drill and drill and drill some more with one big scrimmage game coming up Saturday morning. Films will be made of the game and each boy will get to see himself in action.

What happens between now and then is up to Bergman, his crew of assistants, and the players.

Javier hates to hit in Houston Astrodome

Julian Javier hates to hit in the Astrodome and the Houston Astros hate the way he hits there.

"This is the worst park in the league," Javier complained Friday night, "I hate to hit in the Astrodome, it's hard to follow a pitch up high at the shoulder level."

But the St. Louis Cardinals' second baseman had little trouble with a hanging curve from Mike Cuellar.

He hit it for a two-run homer that climaxed a three-run 4th inning and propelled the league-leading Cardinals to a 5-3 victory over the Astros.

The Cards, leading the league by 11½ games, have now posted a 19-4 record since July 25 when they were tied for first place with the Chicago Cubs. The Cards seem to be on the verge of putting together one of the finest closing records in baseball history.

Javier is playing one of the key roles in the Cardinal surge.

"I've had better years average-wise," Javier admitted, "but for getting the big hit, this has been my best season."

Despite his complaints about the Astrodome, Javier's blow provided the winning margin Friday night as Steve Carlton pitched a six-hitter although he was tagged for three runs.

Even though he claims it's hard to follow the ball well in the Astrodome, Javier explained his homer off the lefthander Cuellar: "I can follow pitches from a lefthander here but not from a righthander."

The Cards won't care how he follows pitches if he keeps hitting like that.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago edged Philadelphia 3-1, Los Angeles whipped Atlanta 5-1, San Francisco beat Cincinnati 3-1 and Pittsburgh whipped New York 7-2.

In the American League, Baltimore beat Chicago 8-2 after losing the first game 3-1, Minnesota edged New York 4-3 after dropping the opener 1-0, Boston nipped California 3-2, Detroit blanked Cleveland 4-0 in a game called by rain in the last of the fifth and Washington topped Kansas City 7-6.

Jim Ellis picked up his first major league victory as the Cubs topped the Phils although he needed relief help from Chuck Hartenstein in the seventh. Glenn Beckert knocked in two runs with a single and infield out and scored the Cubs' third one on Don Kessinger's single.

Jay Alou, who had four singles, knocked in two runs and scored the third as the Giants topped the Reds. Ray Sedbeck pitched a six-hitter to boost his record to 5-4.

Broncos kick NFL pride

The mile-high Denver Broncos have sent National Football League pride plummeting below sea level for the second time in two weeks.

The Broncos, one of the lowliest teams in the young

American Football League, knocked off a favored NFL team once again Friday night, beating the Minnesota Vikings 14-9 and evening the record between the two leagues in exhibition play at 2-2.

Denver also posted the NFL's only other victory in inter-league play, a 13-7 triumph over the Detroit Lions two weeks ago.

The Broncos, who finished in the AFL Western Division cellar last season with a 4-10 mark and lost their opening exhibition game to the second-year Miami Dolphins before finding an easy mark in the NFL, gave Steve Tensi his first taste of combat in a Denver uniform and the tall quarterback put on quite a show in setting up both Bronco touchdowns.

Tensi passed 54 yards to split end Eric Crabtree in the second quarter and rookie halfback Floyd Little scored the first TD from one yard out. A 40-yard toss from Tensi to Crabtree set up a one-yard TD plunge by Cookie Gilchrist in the third period.

Tensi, acquired from the San Diego Chargers during the week, replaced starter Max Chobanian in the second period after he was unable to generate a first down.

In the only other game played Friday night, the world champion Green Bay Packers bludgeoned the Chicago Bears 18-0 in a bruising defensive battle in which no touchdown was scored until the final quarter.

The Packers harrassed the Chicago quarterbacks, intercepting two passes and throwing Jack Concannon for a safety in the third quarter.

Linebacker Ray Nitzschke set up the Packers' only touchdown when he intercepted a pass on Chicago's 33 and returned it five yards. Jim Grabowski capped the brief drive with a one-yard scoring plunge. Don Chandler accounted for the other Green Bay scoring with field goals of 34, 45 and 28 yards.

Two more inter-league games highlight Saturday's schedule. The Eagles meet the AFL New York Jets in Cincinnati, site of the 10th American League franchise to begin play next season. The Jets, who began play in 1966 as the Miami Tornadoes, are scheduled for Sunday when the Lions, 1-1 against the younger circuit, help the Chargers Pitcher Jim Lonborg of the Boston Red Sox and pitcher Mel Queen, Jr., of the Cincinnati Reds are brothers-in-law.

STATUS IN 1966
FINISH: Tied for last with a 4-9-1 record.

SIZE-UP FOR 1967
A NEW coach, Joe Schmidt, at 35 the youngest in the NFL, plus some top offensive picks in the draft, have given the Detroit Lions a hoped-for new look this year after a season of mistakes and crippling injuries.

Help for the offense should come from Notre Dame's Nick Eddy and U.C.L.A.'s Mel Farr, and the return of Tom Watkins, who missed all of 1966 with injuries.

Karl Sweetan improved at quarter, stepping in after Milt Plum was injured in the sixth game and the battle is on.

Schmidt says his needs are "big, aggressive and mobile line-men, breakaway backs who could go all the way and protection for the passer."

The Lions' front four of Alex Karras, Roger Brown, Larry Hand and Darris McCord has a new spirit, with more enthusiasm.

Flanker Pat Studstill rewrote Detroit receiving marks last year and Garo Yepremian, the left-footed kicker, set a mark with six field goals in one game.

Half the Lion draft choices were defensive players and improvement here is sighted.

Dave Hill holds slim edge

HARTFORD, Conn. UPI — Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo., began with a one stroke lead in the third-round of the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open today.

Hill fired a 10-under par 61 Friday, for a 36-hole total of 133. He thus tied the season's single round record for the professional golfers association tour which was set by Gay Brewer en route to victory in the Pensacola Open.

Gary Player, the first-round leader, finished at 69 and a second place tie at 134 with Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., who shot 68. Doug Ford shot a 67 to take possession of fourth place at 135.

First prize in the 16th renewal of the tournament is $20,000 and 72 players were still in competition after surviving the second round cut of 143. Julius Boros, who ranks second behind Arnold Palmer in money earnings this year, missed qualifying by a stroke with a 73. It was the first time in 21 tournaments that Boros failed to make the cut.

The 6,568-yard Wethersfield Country Club course is being played from preferred lies because of recent work that has left bare spots in the fairways.

Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex., had a 69 Friday and was alone in fifth place at 136. A group of six, including No. 4 money winner Frank Beard, was tied for fifth at 137. Beard, who shot a 69, had yet to have a bogey as the third round began.

Stinger buzzes at Fenway Park

The "stinger" was really buzzing at Fenway Park Friday night as its proud new owner, Gary Bell, was making his first experiment one to remember.

The 30-year-old righthander held the California Angels hitless through the first 6½ innings before giving up a home run to Jimmie Hall as the Red Sox kept in the thick of the tight American League pennant race with a 3-2 victory.

It was Bell's first triumph in almost a month but most of the credit goes to teammate Lee Stange, nicknamed "Stinger." Stange gave Bell a tip on how to throw the slider and Bell didn't waste anytime trying out the new pitch.

Bell retired the first 11 men he faced and by the time Hall smashed his first of two homers with one out in the seventh, the Red Sox had built a 3-0 lead. Bell had superb control, walking only one while striking out five.

"I owe the whole game to Lee. He gave me an old pitch, one that had never worked for me. He showed me how to throw the hard slider and after trying it while warming up I decided to give it a go during the game. Whenever I got in trouble I went to the "stinger," Bell said.

For Bell the no-hitter was not the important thing it was winning the game, his first since July 23, and doing it with his new pitch the "stinger."

Bell also chipped in with his bat as he drove in the winning run in the game with a sixth inning single and added a double.

Tony Conigliaro was struck in the face by a pitched ball in the fourth inning and was carried from the field.

The star Boston outfielder suffered a fractured cheek bone and will be sidelined about three weeks.

Rich Reese's pinch-homer in the ninth inning enabled the first place Twins to salvage a split after the Yankees took the opener behind Steve Barber's six-hit pitching.

Curt Blefary's three-run homer in the nightcap paced the Orioles after Pete Ward's disputed homer in the first game led the White Sox to victory.

Tim Cullen smashed a three-run homer with one out in the ninth inning to give the Senators a come from behind triumph over the Athletics.

Eddie Mathews, making his American League debut, drove in a run during a four-run second inning that sparked the Tigers to victory. The game was halted after 4½ innings because of rain.

Bobby Layne, one of the National Football League's all-time great quarterbacks fumbled a record 70 times in his pro career.

It is a basic principle of play that you do not jeopardize a contract for the sake of an extra trick. There is so little to be gained by an overtrick, compared to what can be lost by going down, that declarer practically always plays in the safest manner possible to make the contract.

The principle is self-evident, but its application is not always so clear. Here is a case where declarer unintentionally violated the principle.

After South bid a heart, West doubled and North jumped to four hearts. North had the high-card values for a redouble, but

Hollywood News

(By VERNON SCOTT)

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Rock Hudson spent $11,000 for a part the other night and apparently enjoyed every cent of it.

It was a throwback to the kind of bash thrown in the 20s and 30s. The guest list was impressive and included Princess Grace and Prince Rainier of Monaco.

In all there were 350 guests, not including a few crashers, at Hudson's hideout atop the Hollywood Hills.

His immense patio was covered with three bars pouring booze Niagara style.

Dress was strictly informal. The invitation specified: "No neckties." The girls were dressed in everything from mini skirts to pajama gowns.

The motif was Mexican with the 18-piece Guadalajara Kings band providing far-out music.

Couples crowded the outdoor dance floor, writhing through inventive steps.

The food was Mexican and plentiful.

But as always, people make a party, no matter how much it costs. And this one was to kick off Carol Burnett's new series.

Danny Thomas stopped to express an opinion of how great his own new fall show would be, using an eyebrow-raising expletive.

"It'll be the best... show on the air next year!" he bellowed.

Princess Grace overheard the phrase and her head snapped around in astonishment.

Danny immediately fell to one knee and kissed her hand.

"An act of contrition," he said, his cigar clenched between his teeth.

The princess touched the top of his head regally with her hand and burst out laughing.

Perched self-consciously on a low wall, seemingly stunned by the size and hilarity of the party was Hollywood newcomer Barbra Streisand. She spoke hardly to anyone and refused to dance.

At one table Groucho Marx, Jack Benny and Milton Berle exchanged comical notes. At another, Henry Fonda recounted his recent visit to Vietnam.

Carol Burnett was goggle-eyed: "Just think, all these people came just to wish me well on my new television show."

"You know why I came? To see all the stars. I have an autograph book in my purse, but Rock won't let me go around asking for autographs."

Instead host Hudson posted a large welcome card at the entrance which guests signed on the way in.

"Rock told me I could keep it," Carol explained.

Jirr Nabors, a close friend of Carol's, shook his head in bewilderment. "I brought my two sisters here from Silacauga, Alabama," he grinned. "They're so scared they said they weren't talking to anybody except me and Carol."

Sunny Day to promote new television series

HOLLYWOOD UPI — There are no bounds to which press agents won't go to publicize a new television show, or even an old one.

But newsmen in various parts of the country will be visited during the next three weeks by a girl promoting a new series which, for the moment, escapes my mind.

Her name is Sunny Day, but she looks like the morning after.

Sunny arrives in the city room wearing a chenille bathrobe, curlers and hairnet, cold cream on her face and woolly slippers. She is the archetype of the American wife first thing in the a. m.

Sunny even carries a container of coffee and asks astonished newsmen: "What do I remind you of?"

One reporter looked up and asked: "Didn't I just leave you at home?"

After the initial shock, Sunny does brighten the day.

She whips off the wig and curlers, shrugs out of the robe, wipes off the cold cream and, viola! a beautiful young thing in a yellow sunburst paper dress.

She pours the coffee and sits down to chat about the new series, titled, er... ah, something or other.

A former New York model and native of Tennessee, Sunny's real name is Nancy Cuffman. She's weary of modeling and wants to become a press agent. The tour is her introduction to flackery.

In the weeks ahead she will visit Columbus, Ohio, San Antonio, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Omaha, Nashville, Memphis, New Orleans, Kansas City, Charlotte, N. C. and other points.

"I'll visit as many newspapers as there are in each city," Sunny explained, "handing out promotion kits and trying to interest people in the new show."

After the tour Sunny hopes to find a job in public relations.

If she does become a flack, Sunny should find the work a snap after invading newspaper offices looking like the last rose of summer.

Oh yes, the title of the show she's promoting: "Good Morning World."

Horticulture Tips

Moving Woody Ornamentals: When to move plants is a big question. A general answer is spring and fall, which is when most plants are dormant. However, with care they can be moved almost any time. This is true if the roots are moved in an unbroken ball of soil. Evergreen: they are never completely dormant, but move in early spring and fall. Broadleaf Evergreens, preferably spring. Deciduous (drop leave in fall) shrubs and trees, spring and fall. Some exceptions are birch, dogwood, redbud, magnolia, sweet gum, sour gum, black gum, scarlet oak and white oak, which prefer spring planting. Roses, any time with unbroken ball of soil. Always remember to prune back the top of the plant to compensate for any roots which have been cut off. Water freely.

Am I in some measure the "master of my fate"?

Planning

Most of us understand the importance of good materials, proper location of heating units and well arranged rooms, when we are to build a house. But a life? Doesn't that just plan itself? Is not a man's life determined in the stars? Is he not the victim of fate? Or do we have something to say about it? The poet challenged himself, "Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul." Am I in some measure the "master of my fate"? To ask such questions is to answer them. Our inquiry proves our sense of freedom and our sense of responsibility. Then, how early should I start my plans? The answer is now! Of course, we should plan for today, tomorrow and for eternity. We must determine what to aim for. Whether we are young or old, with the help of the church and God, we may live forever.

You In The Church The Church In You

— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

This message is dedicated to the building of a more spiritual and a greater church going community under the auspices of the Greencastle Ministerial Association and is being sponsored by the following individuals and business firms who want, as their only return, to see more people attending church. The church needs your support. The community needs the church.
